

As a flight attendant with 25-plus years of experience, I urge you not to relax rules regarding use of cellular technology aboard commercial aircraft. I feel strongly that adopting such rules will increase risk to the safety and security for both passengers and crew.